THE DAILY SENTINEL.

C. L. MACARTHUR & D. M. KEPLER, EDITORS.

Tuesday Morning, December 24.

☞ Here is another toast, drank at the Locofoco celebration at Mineral Point, expressive of the sentiments entertained by the Democracy of the Territory. We put it on record for future use—

"Protective Tariff—A cruel and cunning invention by which the great body of the working men of a country are made to pay all the taxes for the support of government and fat the same add to the wealth of the capitalist."

What a pity that these sagacious and far-seeing politicians did not inform the world of the result of their researches in to the depths of political lore before the election! What an immense amount of stump-speeches, writing, thinking, argument and doubt the promulgation of their views would have saved! So, then, Washington, Madison, Monroe and Jefferson, to say nothing of a host of lesser stars who have glittered in the firmament of the American Republic, in approving of a Protective Tariff, were guilty of fastening upon the people "cruel inventions," of as odious a character as that of Herod! What will the people of Pennsylvania, whom your party have grievously cheated and cajoled, say, when they find, by sad experience, that they have elevated men with such sentiments to power? And will you, Locofocos of Wisconsin, if your party, driven by the force of public opinion, refuses to alter the present Tariff, brand your men in authority with the odium which attaches to "cruel inventors" of onerous and oppressive measures? We shall see.

☞ Gov. Ford informs the people of Illinois, in his message, that the Taxes for State purposes, in that State, are three times less than in Ohio. It seems to have been the ill fortune of Illinois to have had a set of men for Legislators who were peculiarly subject to affright whenever the word "taxes" was mentioned. Ohio goes ahead with her improvements and enterprize, and her progress is of a rapid and substantial kind, while Illinois continually talks of improvements and does nothing. A strong effort is necessary to restore to her that degree of energy and character which can alone ensure her any future greatness. Her improvements of every kind, are dormant now, and she seems to be stationary instead of advancing, as have all the other Western States.

O'Connell's Motto—The motto of the great Irish agitator is—"Ireland for the Irish!" To which we say, amen. It is just, patriotic and Christian. The motto of the true hearted American, and of the foreign born, who by going thro the forms of naturalization have declared themselves citizens of our free Republic, should be—"America for the Americans!" The latter is as just, as patriotic, and as Christian as the former, and not a whit more so.

☞ Several typographical errors occured in the article headed 'Our Position,' published three or four days since, which escaped our attention at the time. Thus in the paragragh next to the last we are made to quote the words of Pope Gregory XI., when it should have been Gregory IX.

☞ A verdict of $6,648 98 for the destruction of the Catholic Nunnery at the recent riots, has been rendered by the Courts of Philadelphia.—Served 'em right.

A Small State—The aggregate vote of the State of Delaware at the recent election was 12,229, being 3,615 less than the vote of Oneida Co. New York. Here is an example for us. Delaware, although not comprising more inhabitants than this Territory, goes ahead with its improvements, talks of its sovereignty, and cuts quite a figure in our National Councils, and still manages to keep out of debt. When shall we profit by the example of others?

☞ We learn from the Albany Evening Journal, that at the recent Abolition Convention in that city, there was an exciting debate on the question, whether Thomas Morris, the Liberty party candidate for Vice President, is or is not a profane swearer! The evidence seemed to lean to the side of swearing! Who can decide this interesting question?

☞ We copied a paragraph a short time since stating that three Revolutionary patriots of the town of Newburg voted for Clay at the recent election. The Providence Journal records a similar occurrence in that city. Three Revolutionary veterans voted for Clay who had voted for Gen. Washington.

☞ The official vote for Saginaw county, the home of Mr. Birney, shows that Mr. Clay received 107, Polk 101, and Birney TWO votes! Mr. Birney has a large stock of home popularity in trade! His neighbors, who know him best, have pronounced a cutting commentary upon his honesty and worth.

A Temperance Town.—In Marion, (Ala.,) the Temperance Society numbers 500 members. There is no person licensed to sell ardent spirits. No man can sell a glass, without license, under a penalty of one thousand dollars.

The Catholic Question in N. Hampshire.—The majority in New Hampshire against permitting Roman Catholics to hold office in that State is 9,634. What real friendship the Locos have for the Roman Catholics!

☞ Nauvoo is said to be the largest city in Illinois, having more inhabitants than Chicago.—The name Nauvoo is derived from two Hebrew words meaning Beautiful Rest.

Stand aside for the Green Bay Steamer.—The timber and materials for the new Steamer, to be built at this port, have been got out, and will be at the ship-yard in the course of the ensuing week. It is intended that the Boat shall be completed and ready to commence her trips on or about the first of June next. The builders are among our most enterprising citizens, and will undoubtedly succeed in their project.

RIOTS AND MURDER IN MONTREAL.

It is with great pain we record that this city has again been the scene of riot and bloodshed, and that outrages have taken place of a character only matched in ferocity by those of which Philadelphia was recently the seat, and which have only been less extensively fatal from the fact that factions were not left to battle in the street with fire arms, but that a powerful military force was at hand for their repression.

About half past seven o'clock on Saturday evening, Mr. Charles Colburn of Commissioners street, a young man of well known Conservative politics, was passing along by the College wall, in the direction of McGill street, having been at the house of his brother, who resides in that vicinity. According to his own account, as it has been represented to us, he perceived himself to be followed by three or four men, and in order to keep clear of them he changed his course from the wall to the street and from the street to the wall, but was still followed, and at last one of them coming up to him jumped and gave a kind of cry, or hurra, such as is used with the Irish previous to a fight, and aimed a blow at him with a stick. Mr Colburn had no weapon of defence, but he pulled out a pocket pistol and fired it.

He says he has little recollection of what ensued as he was knocked down and struck at. He believes, several times, by the man at whom he shot, and that he does not believe his shot took effect at all, but that it shot it must have been by a shot fired at himself by an accomplice. Beyond this he knows nothing, except that he was knocked down and severely beaten, until one or two persons were attracted by his calls for help, of whom was a person living near, named Brennan. Mr. Colburn then took refuge in his brother's house, and his sister-in-law dressing his wounds which were severe, when they were alarmed by an attack of Irish, friends of the person shot, and they escaped by the back of the premises, he himself in a state of great exhaustion. He had hardly got out of the house when the mob broke into it, and not finding him, overturned, as we are informed, the stove, with the intention of setting the place on fire, which was fortunately prevented by the arrival of the police.

Mr. Colburn then took refuge in the house of a friend of opposite politics to himself, but here again his pursuers were at his heels, and he escaped just before the house was entered and ransacked, and his life doubtless would have been sacrificed had he been found. On Saturday he surrendered himself to the authorities.

The name of the man who was shot was James Finnell, an Irish laborer, and it is said a very active person in the recent riots. An inquest was held over his body yesterday.

This tragedy excited the most intense excitement in the city in the inhabitants of every origin which some scoundrels added to by posting placards headed "Murder, Murder," saying that "Irish blood had been shed by Orange L. P. S. Assassins," and calling for a meeting of Irish and Canadians in the Hay-Market. This meeting was of course prohibited by the Magistrates, and the military were called out to enforce order which they did during the night.

The next day, Monday, was the day of the Municipal Elections, and that event did not tend to allay the excitement. The disturbance commenced almost as soon as the poll was opened. A body of Irish laborers took possession of the front of the polling place, which was merely a window in a house. They were charged by a number of the other party on horseback and on foot; and driven back. Some severe injuries were received on both sides. But two or three shots, some say more, were fired into the streets and from windows of houses in the neighborhood. By these one man was wounded rather seriously, but it is hoped not dangerously, in the neck, and one or two others it is said, but of that we are not sure, slightly.

This was, as nearly as we can make out, about ten o'clock, and a detachment of Artillery having been called out and stationed near the poll.

It was towards three o'clock, we believe, that a most shocking affair occurred. We had quitted the polling place at two, after giving our own vote, without any obstacle except the presence of a not at all ill-humored crowd of persons with the same object. No one could have the least suspicion of the terrible scene about to take place.

So far as we can learn an opinion prevailed that a house occupied by a man named Brennan, and from which it was said shots had been fired, contained persons pledged, and armed for the purpose, to take "blood for blood," for the death of Finnell. In this excited state of feeling, shots were fired from that house, and one near it, on the Constitutional party, and two of these took effect, one wounding a young gentleman very severely in the back.

This led to an attack on the house, which were defended by a numerous body of men, principally, we believe, canallers, and armed with firearms. Several shots were fired, one of which took fatal effect on the person of a young man named Johnson. He was shot with two balls, which entered each side of the chest, and killed him almost instantaneously. The noise of the conflict brought the military to the spot, and the persons within continuing to fire, several volleys of musketry were fired into the two houses, and the soldiers charging, took prisoners all who occupied them. Those having taken their post in the cellar had escaped the musket balls.

With this sad affair the day closed. Mr. Johnson has left a widow and three children.—Finnell has also left a widow and young family. A grave question arises—what is to be done?—It is impossible that such a state of society as now exists in Montreal can continue.

☞ The following anecdote is related of John Bunyan, the author of the celebrated work entitled the Pilgrim's Progress. This book is one of the few which, neither age nor time can make forgotten. It has already, with three or four exceptions, had a greater sale than any other work.—

"Bunyan was a tinker, and, as is well known, was persecuted on account of his religion; and, as a matter of course, he, together with all the puritans, were adherents of Cromwell. He was a soldier in Cromwell's army, and upon one occasion he was ordered on duty as a sentinel.—One of his followers offered to take his place, to which Bunyan acceded. The poor fellow was killed by a musket ball, upon which Bunyan made the following remark:—'This was a Christian act,' said John, 'for it was in a moment of peril. The poor fellow was shot by a musket bullet. Had Providence drilled such a hole in my carnal kettle, it had been past my mending.'"

Fall of the Leaf.—The season of the fall of the leaf has come again, with its sad and salutary teaching. Who can shut his heart against its great lesson? Who, as he sees the frost withered leaf driven by the fitful gusts of autumn winds, is not reminded that such is human life? Even as a leaf when the frosts have dried up its sap, and its stem clings no more to the parent tree, so is our life. It may be green to-day, and float gaily upon the summer breeze, but the frosts of death are gnawing at its stem, and we know not if it shall wave there to-morrow, or be driven away by the wintry blasts to eternity. Happy are we, if nature preaches not to us in vain, in this her solemn day.

Further Extracts from "The Crisis."

Are our country-men to be deterred from the discharge of their highest duties by this interested cry of illiberality or proscription? We trust not. We believe there is too much intelligence, too much patriotism, too much honesty for the majority of them to be thus deceived or frightened. The cry is raised by foreigners and echoed by interested partizans. Let them continue it; we know their objects; and knowing them, dare oppose them. They may decive some, as intended, but no intellgent patriot.

* * * * *

Yes, and the enemies of American principles call us, in supposed derision "natives," "Native Americans," etc, as if the distinction was indeed disgraceful to us; as if we should be ashamed of the title and character of "Native Americans!" Heaven forbid! No, no; we are proud of it. Neither Foreigners, nor American demagogues and traitors will ever make us ashamed of our name or our glorious heritage, though we may be bound in chains or burned at the stake! But, has it come to this, Americans? Once it was not so; yet, now that foreign influence has got so strong a hold of us, we are ashamed of our name and of our character!—ashamed of our country and of our birthright!—Heavens! what a falling off was there, my countrymen! Our name is "American Republicans." Our enemies know it; and none but they miscall it or misinterpret our principles. Let them bandy epithets; let them traduce, let them brand our countrymen!—Our hope, like that of our fathers, is in our cause, our country, our God.

* * * * *

A distinguished statesman has assured us that, in his opinion, this power is, and ever will be, irresistable; that there are a sufficient number of our own countrymen—and with deep and lasting disgrace be it said—who are so ambitious and corrupt as to stimulate and direct this power for their selfish and political purposes; and hence that, thus associated and directed, it is already too late to attempt reform or enact necessary laws. Were there no other demonstration of the power and fatal effects of foreign influence in our country, this, we think, sufficiently startling to alarm and nerve every patriot. Is it, indeed, too late! Is it true that we are already slaves; that foreigners are already our masters, and that any national measure they do not approve must be crushed? Must we submit, now and forever, to this painful, this awful necessity? Is there not virtue, energy, and patriotism, enough in the American people to redeem us from this fatal condition? Say countrymen, must we abide this? Must we sit down in despair, cover our faces and only weep over our fallen greatness? God forbid! We say again, then, with the chivalric Henry,—and we trust that every American Patriot will heartily respond to the declaration—"I know not what others may think, but, as for myself, give me liberty or give me death." And, also, with the patriotic Adams, at the first declaration of our independence, "Do we intend to submit and consent that we ourselves shall be ground to powder, and our country and its rights trodden in the dust? We never shall submit."——"While I live, let me have a country, or at least the hope of one, and that a free country."——"Sir, before God; I believe the hour has come.—My judgment approves this measure, and my whole heart is in it. All that I have, all that I am, and all that I hope in this life, I am now ready here to stake upon it.—Sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish, I am for the declaration! It is my living sentiment; and, by the blessing of God, it shall be my dying sentiment—Independence now, and Independence for ever!

The Wonders of Science.—The remarks of a gentleman when jeered because he believed the celebrated 'moon hoax' is as true as it was sensibly made. Men of science,' said he,' are the easiest hoaxed, because they learn so many wonders during the progress of their experiments, that they are soon prepared to believe in anything partaking of the wonderous and strange.' Electricity possesses powers which partake more of magic than anything else. A celebrated writer says, a salad of mustard or water-cress may be produced in a few minutes by the assistance of electricity. The process is to immerse the seed for a few days previously in diluted oxymuriatic acid, then sow it in a very light soil, letting it be covered with a metallic cover, and then bring it in contact with an electric machine. By the agent employed in this process, eggs, which require twenty day's application of animal heat to hatch, may be hatched in a few hours. Rain water apparently free from any noxious animalcula, in an hour may be rendered full of insects.'

Flint, by the aid of voltaic electricity may be made to develope insects. Why is it that animal life may be procured from stone? Is it not electricity, or its compound galvanism, the cause and sustainer of animal life?—Cincinnati Messenger.

"Squire," said Mr. F., entering the office of a well known magistrate in this city, I have an account I wish settled; will you attend to it for me?"

"Certainly, sir. What is it?"

"It is my cash account—thirty dollars short—wish you'd collect the balance for me,"—Louisville Dime.

Nature prepares a remedy for every disease!—The most learned physicians, medical men and philosophers, have all agreed that nature has provided a remedy for every disease, when used in time by the afflicted. A little reflection must convince every body of the truth, contained in this remark. The brute creation seem to know it by instinct. When they are afflicted, they eat freely of some particular plant or herb, and are at once relieved. If animals without reflection can thus alleviate their pains, what could man do, the image of his Creator, and endowed with a portion of his faculties. For sale by

REMOVAL AND NEW GOODS.

FRED. WARDNER

WOULD respectfully announce to his friends and customers and the public in general that he has moved his stock of merchandize from his old stand to the south store in Rogers' new fire proof Block, nearly opposite the Cottage Inn, where he will be happy, to see his friends and customers and supply their wants on the same liberal terms that he has in times past. Being fully determined to sustain the reputation he has acquired of selling goods cheaper than any other house in Milwaukie—and he would say to his old customers, that he feels duly grateful for past patronage and hopes that none will leave him in consequence of the change in his location.

dec10 L. J. HIGBY,
Corner of Wisconsin and water sts

I say, stranger, what makes you put the mare through so this morning? Did you meet a Pedar who bought his Goods in Southport, & thinks he can sell them? Well, I bought my Goods at L. J HIGBY'S, in Milwaukie—who has everything you can ask for, and so cheap that Pedlars from that place or any other cannot sell with those who buy at the Cheap Cash Store of L. J. Higby.

Yes! HIGBY sells very cheap since he has got home from New York. An eight your customer of his in Mus-kego told me that he bought more Goods for five dollars than other stores would sell for seven—and what is more they far exceeded any he had bought elsewhere, for elegance, durability and mildy. Hence the cause of my hurry—I must have some of them! Good day, sir.

WINTER GOODS.

HAVING just returned from New York city with a much larger stock of DRY GOODS than usual, and having bought them after the fall of prices from 10 to 25 per cent less than those who purchased in August and September, can and will sell them at less prices than has ever been sold in this "Great City, Milwaukie." Call and see, Ladies & Gentlemen!

800 ps Hudson, Cocheco & other prints of the latest Winter styles from 6 to 31 cts per yd.
